Kiss + Cathcart in association with Ellen Miller, Architect has provided ongoing planning and architectural service for the Associated Press (AP) at locations worldwide.

Major components of this work include reorganization and renovation of AP's Rockefeller Center headquarters, construction of multiple technical centers and uplink facilities, and temporary installations for the Olympic Games and the 1996 Democratic and Republican political conventions.

To date, 250,000 square feet of space has been constructed and furnished.
